

Four Feature Acts On Orpheum's Bill

Four unusually brilliant features are scheduled on the new bill coming to the Orpheum Sunday matinee April 23. Joe Laurie Jr., the famous pint-size comedian and author and later star of such stage successes as "The Gingham Girl," "Plain Jane," and "If I Were Rich," will make his first vaudeville appearance in quite some time. Belle Baker, the incomparable songstress, will remain for one more week. Arthur Byron, the noted Broadway player, and his company will offer "Ten for Three," a vaudeville version of the famous play by Roi Cooper Megrue. "Les Polles Rouge," a colorful dance revue with Lola Syrell, Peggy O'Neil, Bland O'Connell and Alvin Eley and a pulchritudinous collection of girls, is one of the outstanding features. Other offerings will include Harry and Denis Dator, the international dancers; the Waite Trio, Australian stock-whip manipulators and boomerang throwers; Raymond Wilbert in "Montal Hazards," supported by a cast of girls; and one other feature act. Orpheum tickets may be secured at the Dolley drug store.
